My name is Lisa. I'm sixteen years old. I'm a student at a high school. I'm from England. I live in Barcelona with my family because my father works here at a big company. He is a computer programmer. My mother works as a teacher at a primary school. We love living here but I sometimes miss my old friends in London.

I get up early on weekdays. I have a shower before breakfast. Then, I have breakfast and I feed my cat before I leave the house. Our house is very close to the school, so I usually go there on foot. My classes start at 8.30 in the morning. I have eight lessons a day. My favorite subject is math, but my best friend, Sue finds it difficult. She doesn't like it. I really like playing with numbers. I have lunch at 12 o'clock. After lunch, I usually drink something and chat with my friends. In the afternoons, I usually have science classes. It's fun to do experiments. Going to school makes me happy.
