Theme 1: Future Jobs

C. Read the predictions in the extract from a magazine article and tick the correct column.

The Jobs of Tomorrow?

Some experts think many aspects of life will change in the future, so most of tomorrow's jobs will be different from today's. Here are some of their predictions.

(1)

Robotics Service Technician:

Many people believe that robots will help with household chores such as cleaning and ironing in the near future, so skilled technicians will definitely be needed to repair them when they get out of order or stop working. That's why experts guess robotics service technicians will be very important to tomorrow's people.

Commercial Drone Pilot:

In the near future, commercial drones will probably be used a lot. Perhaps they will remove waste from streets in cities. Maybe they will perform dangerous tasks like cleaning the exterior glass walls of very tall buildings. Therefore, skilled drone pilots will be employed by many companies in the years ahead.

Smart Building Technician:

The number of smart buildings is rising rapidly as people want to take advantage of the automation technology for building systems such as lighting, heating and security. For this reason, there will be an increasing demand for smart building technicians to install, maintain and repair these systems. They will probably be much more popular in the near future.

Artificial Intelligence Specialist:

Artificial Intelligence (AI) is a special type of computer science. It involves using complex machines to copy intelligent human behavior. For instance, AI can understand languages, recognize pictures, solve problems and learn. It can even control a robot. In fact, AI has already become part of many industries. There will definitely be a growing need for AI specialists.
