I just watched The Lonely Astronaut. It is an epic science fiction movie. The story is about a pilot. He gets lost during a space exploration mission.

The visual effects are amazing. The planets look incredibly realistic. Also, the script is very intelligent. It makes you think about our place in the universe. It is definitely a legendary film for this year.

However, it is a bit long. The movie is three hours long! Also, there are no aliens or battles. If you like martial arts, this movie will bore you.

If you like deep stories and space, watch it. If you want explosions, watch something else!

2. Answer the questions according to the text and the dialogue.

The conversation below is from a scene in "The Mars Colony". Rex and Helen are inside a futuristic space station on Mars. Outside, the storm is red and dusty.

Rex: The storm is getting worse. The artificial atmosphere is failing.

Dr. Helen: I am trying to fix it! If the system stops, we will run out of oxygen in one hour.

Rex: We need a backup plan. Will the escape pods work?

Dr. Helen: No, the storm is too strong. We must stay here.

Rex: I didn't think our adventure would end like this.

Dr. Helen: Don't lose hope, Rex. I will find a solution. I just need time. Hand me the robotic repair tool!

Rex: You are the most intelligent person I know. Save us, Helen.

- Where are Rex and Dr. Helen?
- What is happening outside the station?
- Why is the situation dangerous for them?
- Why won't the escape pods work?
- What do you think will happen next?

The Changing World of Cinema

Movies are changing. Historical films and westerns remain classic favorites for traditional audiences. Stories about history entertain many viewers. However, today, the younger generation prefers something different. They are into futuristic films and science fantasy.

Why is this happening? Directors now use computer technology to create virtual reality worlds. You don't just watch the movie; you feel like you are inside it. For example, in modern superhero movies, the special effects make the heroes look real. However, some people still prefer classic genres. A nice romantic comedy or a biographical film about a famous singer is still popular.

- ☐ 1. Stories about history are boring for all viewers.
- ☐ 2. The younger generation prefers westerns.
- ☐ 3. Virtual reality makes you feel like you are inside the movie.
- ☐ 4. Biographical films are still popular with some people.
- ☐ 5. Nobody likes romantic comedies anymore.
